J. D. MATTHEWS, of Fayette. WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28, 1855.

Some of the New York papers are stiexorcised about the marder of Bill Pools .-The great city of the New World has been pro digiously excited because a bully has died by violence, as he lived. But the secret spring of all this deep interest is, that Pools was an American in the party sense, and he was killed by a d-d Iriehman, as he elegantly expressed it .-He is therefore a martyr, and must be half canenised. It is true, from the best information we have, Pools was murdered by a mean cowardly assessin; but decent men can hardly conceive, much less know, the burning wrongs the wretch had to avenge upon a man of Poota's life and character. He was one of the fighting machines of the great metropolis, and made himself useful in election times, bullying about the poils for the benefit of his party. He had an honest business to fellow, but he made himself distinguished by his prowess in fisticuff, and thereon based his position in society. How pathral that he should die as he did ! And what has the world lost? If the whole of BILL POOLE's class were rubbed out,it were scarce a matter for the world to regret, Let the police do their daty, hunt out the vile assessin and hang him; then the rest of mankind will be rid of two nuisances-of one in a natural and the other in a legal way. It is rather accident that the positions of the two are no wang state offices. We admire their discretion hagely, inasmuch as there is now no Whife party to make nominations. These editors look every comical whilst detailing their opinions against calling a Whig Convention, or nominating while the same time, the immortality of Whig principles, and pretending not to know, only to inderstand, what this new party in after. Now the plain truth is, it is inexpedient to call a Whig convention, because it is impossible. Every body has seen the impossibility of the thing for some times, and now while geditors are very gravely advising in the premises.

The Observer and Reporter says the Democrate Convention was only an anti-Know Nothing Convention, because it is impossible. There is a great deal of discretion and window in these Whig editors just now, but not a modicum of course. There is each a thing as a party running candidates without a prospect of success, for the sake of principle; but the patriotism of these whig editors doesn't run in that channel. These must be some prospect of spoils, or it's indiscrete to work. The glorious, nudying Whig principles! They are so good that the party can leave them to take care of themselves.

We, of course, should prefer to have whig selected to all the fices of the government, but if that cannot be done, then, as between the American party and the Democrate, we have a besistation in desiring, as a general rule, euccess to the sentior of a colorable with the sentior of a colorable, total admission. A few words for your own ood. ADIES AND GENTLEMEN: It is doubtless not being new to you in mentioning the hard time thick we have had for the last eggt or to month I gladden the hearts of "the old folks al home;" and how hearful the danger that, in the landable effort, many will become else and die among strangers in a diesartiand, for from home and triends. How important, then, it it that every family, parent, son, in rother, and eister, should secure a true, falthful, and life-like likenase of those to whom we are related by all those dear ties of nature! But "hard times" is the cry. Friends, tfOKSBERG 1s datermined that it his excuse shall avail you no longer, and for that purpose will take pictures of yourself sail friends et in 6-lowing reduced prices, and he stipulates turthey shall be equal to the heat.
